PLACERVILLE MAN GETS TRAFFIC TICKET AS WEDDING GIFT

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Albertis Goodin, married Saturday evening at the home of the bride's parents at College City, are establishing their home in Placerville.

One of the wedding gifts they received, and did not anticipate, was a traffic citation for doing a mere sixty miles an hour along Folsom Boulevard shortly after midnight Sunday morning, while enroute to Placerville following their marriage.

The many friends of the bride and bridegroom, extending good wishes, will hope also that "the judge" will be sympathetic.

Mrs. Goodin is the former Virginia Traynham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy V. Traynham, of College City. Her husband is "Bud" Goodin, one of the Placerville employees of the Shell Oil Company, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Goodin, of Artois.

WPA WILL DROP 650,000

Wage Legislation Change In Congress Abandoned; "Vacation" Clause Cited

WASHINGTON (UP)—Works Progress Administration officials today began the most extensive roll cutting program since the agency's establishment in 1935, involving the dismissal of approximately 650,000 workers by Sept. 1.

Orders were sent to state administrators to begin mass firing in accordance with a provision of the 1940 relief bill that all on WPA rolls for 18 months take a 30 day vacation.

In New York, 1000 dismissal notices already were in the mails, and 2500 will be discharged each working day for the next six weeks. Dismissals in other states will follow shortly.

Officials were uncertain what effect the new firing would have on the two weeks old strike affecting more than 100,000 WPA workers who are protesting another provision of the 1940 relief measure—that abandoning the prevailing wage scale for skilled workers.

Leaders of the Workers Alliance, an organization of relief clients, have warned that nationwide protests against the dismissal program will make the current strike "look like a tea party."

A congressional drive to restore the prevailing wage apparently had failed.

Rep. Adolph J. Sabath, D., Ill., who sponsored an amendment in the House to restore the old wage scale, said he was undecided whether to press for action in view of the announcement from a group of senators sponsoring similar legislation that the fight looked futile.

The senate group, headed by Sen. James E. Murray, D., Mont., abandoned efforts to revise the relief law because of strike violence, which they termed "embarrassing."

WPA officials said that some 300,000 persons will be cut off the relief rolls during August to meet the congressional 18-months restriction and that another 350,000 would be fired in September. The dismissals will be carried out gradually, they said, to avoid disruption of project operations.

The new reductions are in addition to the "normal" cut ordered previously to bring WPA rolls from 2,600,000 in June to 2,400,000 in July.

Water Meetings On Tuesday

Overnight Storage Reservoirs To Be Given Demonstration

Two demonstration meetings on the subject of overnight storage reservoirs will be conducted by the farm advisor on Tuesday.

At ten o'clock in the morning, there will be a meeting at the W. A. Caldwell ranch at Camino, and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon there will be a demonstration at the C. E. Cribbs ranch, immediately west of Placerville.

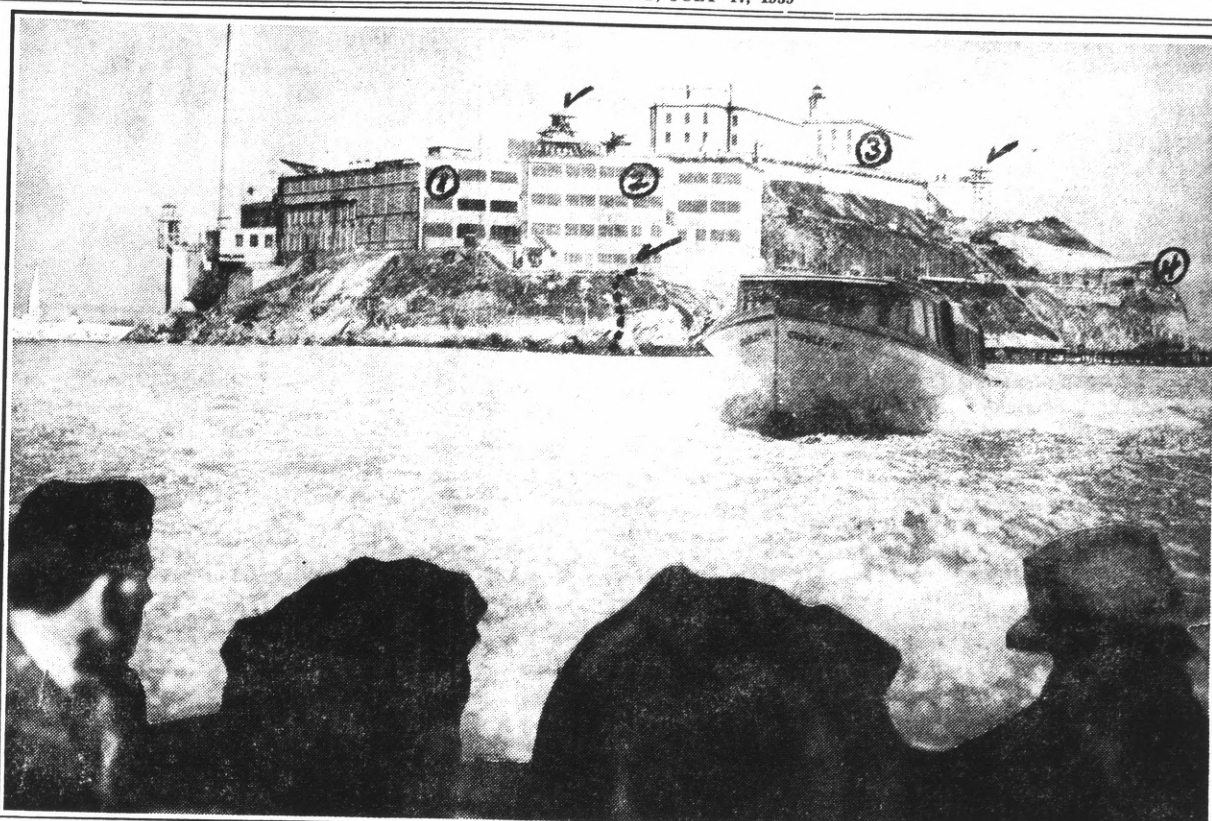

The farm advisor's office has taken special effort to call the announcement of the meeting to the attention of contractors and others who may have occasion to build such reservoirs, and also states that all interested farmers will be welcome at either one or both of the meetings.

Pair Recently Wed To Reside At El Dorado

Agnes May Matulich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Matulich of the Willow Springs district, and Earl Rutledge of El Dorado, were married last week in Reno, Nev.

They are making their home in El Dorado. The couple were attended by a sister and a brother of the bride, Mrs. Charles Davis of Sacramento and Thomas Matulich of Dry Town. A wedding dinner was attended by their immediate families.

The bride is a graduate of schools in Dry Town, Sutter Creek and Sacramento.

Former "Big Shot" In Federal Prison Concludes Series Of Four Articles By Reminding Readers Of Crime's Futility

By ROY GARDNER

(Editor's Note: This is the last of the series of articles by Gardner, one-time train robber, now a lecturer on Crowley Treasure Island excursion boats that circle Alcatraz Island, where the author was a convict for 25 months.)

Passengers on the excursion boat that leave the Port of The Trade Winds on Treasure Island ask me most frequently to tell of the attempted breaks and the mutinies on the Rock. Those events, punctuated by the glass with a hammer, not knowing that the glass was shatter-proof. Limerick and Franklin got slugs pointblank from the rifle of Guard Stites. Limerick was killed. Both of Franklin's shoulders were broken. Lucas, the rat, saved his skin by ducking.

The boat passengers "pump" me about Roe and Cole. Did they make it? Did they escape from this escape-proof prison? Personally, I think Roe and Cole became food for the fishes. But there is an underworld story about the men and you may, if you care to, put it down as fiction.

Roe and Cole were lifers. Roe, 28-years-old, was in fine physical condition. He trained for that swim with ice cold showers. He was all ready. Cole was smaller, weaker. He told other convicts he didn't think he could make it.

And I point out another guard tower, where Limerick and Franklin and Lucas came pounding on

50-CAR PURCHASE OF SURPLUS PEARS ANNOUNCED

SACRAMENTO (UP)—The Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation will buy 50 carloads of fresh bartlett pears from growers in the next few days, officials here announced today.

The FSCC will pay $1 a box for unwrapped fruit and -1.05 for the wrapped pears, it was announced. The purchase is the second step in the surplus control program under a federal marketing agreement, and follows a two-day ban on shipments yesterday and Saturday.

A purchase of 75 cars of fresh plums also was announced by FSCC officials. The plum buying program was begun last month.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sinclair were at San Francisco last week attending a regional convention of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers. The entertainment of the wives of members included a tea at the Woodside home of Mrs. D. C. Jackling and a social occasion at the Palo Alto residence of Mrs. Herbert Hoover, both of which Mrs. Sinclair attended.

SOUTH SIDE CENTER TO PICNIC SUNDAY ON MIDDLE FORK

"Something new under the sun" in the way of farm center meetings is announced by the South Side Center for its meeting on Sunday, July 23, which will be a picnic on the Middle Fork of the Cosumnes river, opening at ten o'clock in the morning.

There will be games, swimming and a potluck picnic lunch along with the regular business meeting of the center.

Center members who have ice cream freezers are being asked to help out by bringing the frozen delicacy for the lunch.

Drunk Driver Fined $200 In City Police Court

Harvey Butler, arrested over the weekend by City Officer John Bathurst on a charge of drunken driving, was fined $200 when found guilty in the city court Monday morning, before Police Judge Eugene Creed. Butler was admitted to bail of $200 following his arrest.

Uncle Sam Now Owns Site For New Postoffice

Checks aggregating $13,750 were paid to Mrs. Mary Irwin, of Folsom, Mrs. Irwina Hardie Winning, of Burlingame, and Miss Alma Hardie, of Sacramento, at Sacramento on Friday by Deputy United States District Attorney Robert B. McMillan, and Uncle Sam now owns the site for Placerville's projected new postoffice building at the corner of Main Street and Bedford Avenue.

Final steps preliminary to payment were achieved earlier in the day when Mr. McMillan visited Placerville and, on behalf of the federal Department of Justice, inspected and approved the site.

The transaction, which has been a year or more in the making, was arranged through the L. J. Anderson realty agency and with its conclusion the Postmaster in Placerville becomes custodian of the site.

9 More Victims In Mine Blast

Finding Of Bodies Rises Total Killed In Explosion To 28; Gas Takes Lives

PROVIDENCE, Ky., (UP)—G. T. Powell, U. S. Bureau of Mines inspector, announced today that rescue workers had found the bodies of nine additional miners in the Duvin coal mine, making a total of 28 victims in a dust explosion which rocked the mine Friday night.

The bodies were found behind a makeshift barricade in a gallery 185 feet below the surface and almost three miles from the shaft.

Rescuers had been hopeful of finding the nine men alive. They had found evidence that the men had erected the barricade to protect themselves from gas laden air.

Powell said the barricade had been ineffective because the men had not had sufficient material to make it airtight. He said rescuers had reported the men used some of their clothing to fill breaches in the barricade.

Grandmother To Fly Around World

CHICAGO, (UP)—Mrs. Virginia L. Pfuderer, a 72-year-old grandmother with a yen for flying, wants to visit her daughter in San Francisco.

So tomorrow she will step aboard an airliner at Municipal Airport for a trip to San Francisco with stopovers at Cairo, Delhi, Bangkok, Hong Kong and Honolulu.

BANK'S BOARD REORGANIZED

N. Fox Retires After 22 Years As Chairman; Dr. W. A. Rantz Successor

After twenty-two years as chairman of the board of the bank in Placerville, Nicholas Fox recently resigned from the chairmanship and has been succeeded by Dr. W. A. Rantz in that capacity, it is announced by officers of the bank.

Mr. Fox was chairman of the board in the old El Dorado County Bank and following that bank's establishment as a part of the Bank of America organization, he continued in office.

Recently he concluded that "twenty-two years is enough" and asked to be relieved of the chairmanship. He continues as a member of the board.

Dr. Rantz, the new chairman, has been vice-chairman of the board for many years. He is succeeded in that capacity by Guy E. Wentworth who, some months ago, retired as vice-president in charge of the bank after a quarter-century of active service in the banking industry.

In addition to Dr. Rantz, Mr. Fox and Mr. Wentworth, the board membership includes Henry S. Lyon, Alex Revaz, J. A. Raffetto, J. G. Leonard, Elmer Jones, Charles Wood, Ed Clark, Albert Simon, M. T. Kelly and Max Baer.

Driving Charge To Be Aired Before Jury

Paul Gilbert, arrested over the weekend on charges of reckless driving and released on bail, asked for a jury trial on the charge when arraigned in police court Monday morning. Police Judge Eugene Creed vacated the bail and released Gilbert on recognizance.

Gilbert had been arrested by City Officer Marvin Killian.

The trial was set for August 1st and a venire of thirty was drawn and is being summoned.

GIRARDELLI ADMITS GUILT OF FIRING HOTEL AT NASHVILLE

Mario Girardelli, indicted by the recent grand jury for the insurance burning of the hotel at Nashville on August 25, last, pleaded guilty to the charge at an arraignment Monday afternoon in Superior Court.

At about 3:30 o'clock District Attorney Henry S. Lyon had completed the statutory questioning of the defendant and the questioning was being continued by defense counsel Anthony Perovich.

It was not indicated whether a plea for probation might be made, but the nature of the proceedings indicated sentence would be passed at the close of the interrogation.

ANGLERS RUSH UPPER TRUCKEE

2,000 Reported On Creek As Closed Ban Is Lifted During Weekend

The south end of Lake Valley was transformed into a gold mining camp over the weekend as approximately 2,000 fishermen staged a stampede for the Upper Truckee River.

It was such an occasion as, probably, has never been equalled in El Dorado County in recent years and from the interest displayed one would have thought James Marshall had just found the original flake along the bank of the stream.

Some good catches are reported—a comparatively few. With the water in the small creek soon whipped and churned almost to a foam, large numbers of those who were "on the ground" early spread out to other lakes and streams in the vicinity and Sunday morning brought a new crop of anglers, hopeful of catching some of the trout that were overlooked in the first rush.

The estimate of 2,000 is not our own—that comes from some of those who were on the stream.

YOU'RE TELLING ME!

By WILLIAM RITT

ASTRONOMERS say there is a star which is 20,000 times hotter than the sun. Just remember that when the next big heat wave happens. The thought of that star ought to enable you to stand the humidity.

"Baby Born in Taxicab"—headline. Bet if he ever runs for political office he'll insist it was a taxicab.

Rats do $200,000,000 damage every year in the U. S. This refers, of course, only to the four-legged type.

Watermelon juice has been successfully converted into vinegar.

gar. But who, in heaven's name, would be silly enough to want to do that?

Mexican peso down to 95 for a dollar. Hmm, the American penny soon may have a little cousin below the border.

The whole family regards papa as Santa Claus. Maybe it's because he's usually the one who's left holding the bag.

made the break. Fog as thick as soup rolled in that afternoon of Dec. 14, 1937.

Each man carried a can that had been soldered air-tight in the machine shop. Each can contained civilian clothing that had been made in the prison tailor shop. With the cans to keep them afloat, Roe and Cole reached the mainland. With a can opener they unpacked their civilian wardrobe and...

So much for that story.

There's no mystery surrounding the attempted break of May, 1938. One dead guard. One dead convict. This is the break where Jimmy Lucas figured. With Lucas were Whitey Franklin and Tom Limerick. All were working in the model shop, where Cline was a guard, unarmed as are all guards who mingle with the prisoners.

They murdered Cline, but a jury couldn't decide who struck the fatal blows, so Lucas and Franklin went back to The Rock instead of to the gas chamber.

The men killed Cline in the shop, climbed through a window, cut a barbed wire barricade and then scrambled to the roof. Their design was to overpower Guard Stites in the tower and get his gun. They hadn't reckoned with shatter-proof glass.

There were other convicts in on that deal. The program was to get some guns, snatch the women and children of guards' families and use them for shields. Had those rats secured weapons, I believe Alcatraz would have been the scene of the worst massacre in American prison history. A fantastic plot with the makings of terrific bloodshed if it had been even partially successful.

Another fantastic break for freedom was made only last January by five of the Island's toughest—led by Arthur (Doc) Barker of the Barker convict brood—a convict mother, a convict father and four convict brothers. Nice family!

Five men cut their way from five cells and got to the water's edge before guns started speaking. Barker was killed. He was lucky. The others are still on The Rock.

Allow this "ex-con" a few words to moralize. I've written a book on "Hellcatraz," my series of articles in this paper have been in the nature of an abridgement of that book. I believe that the factual telling of what happens to the "big shots"—I was one of them—will have more to do with putting youngsters on the right track than anything else.

I expect to spend the remainder of my life talking about crime, talking about Alcatraz. I was a helluva guy one time. Held up trains single-handed. Got big headlines in the papers. Got 18 years of sorrow "too deep to symbolize with tears."

I was a comparatively young fellow when they took me out of circulation; I'm an old fellow today.

And there's Harvey Bailey—he couldn't make the grade; his brains didn't save him.

And there's Alvin Karpis—he couldn't make the grade with rat cunning and rat courage.

And there's Rufe Persulf—he was unable to make the grade, even with a brand of ruthlessness so foreign to a normal mind.

It's a grade that can't be made.

Aching Feet Cause Frowns And Etch Lines in Face

By JACQUELINE HUNT

PAMPER your feet to keep them smooth, firm and flexible. A little care will not only keep you walking with a youthful spring but will help you avoid one of the commonest causes of wrinkles.

MISS HUNT

Do not wear high spike heels for your housework or long walks. Keep them for evening and dress-up occasions. Wear medium or low heels when you must be on your feet all day. Such shoes are now as smart and good looking as those with higher heels.

Good posture is also an aid to foot comfort. Learn to stand with shoulders, hips and knees in line. Your weight supported on the toes and balls of your feet. Walk with your feet parallel and the toes straight ahead, swinging your leg forward from the hip with each step.

Feet are imprisoned in close-fitting shoes so much that you should make a special effort to give them some fresh air and exercise every day. All foot exercises you know, should be taken barefooted or in your stockings. Try this one:

Stand on the very edge of the bottom step, with your arches and heels hanging over, your toes gripping the treads so you do not lose your balance. If this is difficult at first, hold on to the banister rail.

until you have developed strength enough in your ankles and toes to keep you in position.

Now lower the heels as far as you can without sliding off the step. When your heels are as low as they will go, start moving up slowly until your weight is supported on your toes. Repeat this exercise ten times or more every time you start up stairs or down.

It is good for your calves, too, and you know how important good-looking legs are now that skirts are swinging upward again!

This foot exercise can be taken after your bath when you are seated on your bath stool or when you sit down to change your shoes and stockings. Cross your legs and start with the foot that hangs free. Clasp your hands firmly around your toes, and twist your foot around and around. Let the toes make a circle in the air while you rotate your foot from the ankle.

Press your foot downward with your hand, then force it upward and stretch your ankle muscles as much as possible. Circle ten times in each direction, then cross your legs the other way and exercise the other foot. A good massage usually begins her body massage with this simple foot exercise.

Feet that are rough in texture, dry-skinned or very sensitive will appreciate a rubbing with a good cold cream or a soothing foot salve after bathing.

YOUR GOOD HEALTH

The Faith and Hope of a Patient Is Almost as Important to Recovery as Medicine

By CLAUD NORTH CHRISMAN, M.D.

THE mind or soul of a man, meaning by that the part of him which thinks, feels and wills, has much to do with his physical well-being. To say that treatment by "the mind" is all that is needed to cure physical ills is as wrong as to say that all the ills of the body can be relieved by drugs and medicines.

DR. CHRISMAN

How many times have we heard the expression, "I was so disappointed, I was sick all over"? That is literally true and since it is so, what can be the result of disappointments, discouragement, repeated sorrows, and lack of feeling in those you feel should give consideration? Nothing but ill health can result, till the mind has risen above the mental troubles and confidence and cheerfulness have returned.

We are just old-fashioned, orthodox believers at our house and are not inclined to go off on any tangents of what are called modern cults. Mother came in from a lecture the other day with her eyes snapping. Then is when we all sit up and take notice. She had heard a prominent woman lecturer, speaking before a large group of church women, make this statement, "Doctors just hate to admit that you can cure your ailments with anything but medicine or something you get from glands."

I asked discreetly, "What did you say?" Well, she hadn't said anything but what she would have liked to say was a great deal. She felt if she got started, there would not have been time left for the woman to earn her fee. The statement, of course, was untrue, and showed a serious lack of familiarity with the ethics of the profession. A great part of medical training is based on the old-style phrasing we used to see in framed mottoes on grandmothers' walls, "Faith, Hope and Charity." Of these, the patient must supply much of the faith and hope.

The fortitude to endure pain, the courage to submit to drastic treatment, the patience to await results, are all fundamental factors in remedying human ills and must be provided in a degree demanded by the seriousness of the case.

Any doctor knows that he will meet with little success with a patient who does not believe in his knowledge and in his fair and honest treatment. The medical man earns this confidence by his care in examination, his skill in diagnosis, his truthfulness in dealing with statements, and his intelligence in prescribing and applying the proper remedies.

By these means he helps to instill the faith and hope needed to supplement the chosen remedies. By charity, I do not mean financial charity. The charity the doctor needs to show is sympathy and understanding of the weaknesses, moral, mental, and physical, which must always be taken into consideration.

Few teachers or preachers are able to afford such consideration of the failures of the physical self to support the moral intentions as the doctor can and does. The man with a weakened will, immoral tendencies, or a depraved appetite, probably has a congested liver, an obstructed gall bladder or an ulcerated stomach. Add to this, a burden of discouragement, disappointment, and worry and there is the combined problem of the proper physical remedies and the necessity of instilling hope, dispelling fright, and restoring both a mental and a physical equilibrium.

THE Book Mark

By JANE VOILES

Seven years ago Walter Pitkin wrote "Life Begins at Forty." Now afraid that the youngsters are going to waste their time until they reach the beginning age, he writes "Making Good Before Forty." Vigorous and active at the age of 62, Pitkin sees most of us as over-informed and under-active "critters" who do not know how to make use of what we have and what we know. So he makes it his business to tell us. In this new book, he addresses himself to a mythical two million men and women who are to work for the fulfillment of the American dream which will mean when realized comfort and liberty for all Americans.

Making good before forty isn't a matter of luck as Dame Fortune and the Opportunity sisters "no longer make one night stands at every hamlet." The three bugaboos that stand in the way of making good are easy work, wrong work and stupid leisure.

Specifically Mr. Pitkin points out that some fields offer few chances for advancement today while other fields are constantly growing and improving. Among the latter, he calls attention to the following industries and businesses:

- Air conditioning;
 - Aviation;
 - Chemical engineering;
 - Suburban farming;
 - Specialty farming;
 - Telephones.
- Refusing to shut his eyes to the possibility of war and believing in preparedness, he observes that "in the next ten years he shall train thousands of men and women in the following services:
- Building, servicing and piloting of airplanes;
 - Building and operating small coast defense boats;
 - Building and operating special defense radio sets;
 - Making and handling chemicals

SALVATION ARMY OPENS SOLICITATION IN COUNTY

The annual campaign for funds for the work of the Salvation Army is again under way in the county. During the past five years this work has been conducted by Charles N. Elia, who is this year succeeded by N. L. Good on behalf of the organization and Attorney C. W. Pearson has consented to act as community chairman.

In behalf of the campaign, Mr. Good said:

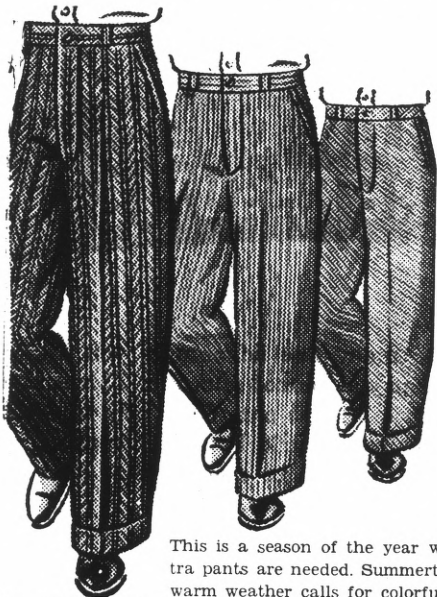

"As has been stated in the past, this county is served by the Women's Home and Hospital, 28th and Garden Streets, Oakland, a haven for unwed mothers; and the boys' and girls' industrial home in Sonoma County, caring for orphans, delinquents and helpless and underprivileged children.

"The Salvation Army is ever ready to give aid, regardless of whom the applicants may be and any cases in the county which require such attention should not hesitate to apply.

"Funds necessarily are required to carry on such a program and to meet the demands from this county. These institutions are maintained mostly on public subscription although some aid is received from the county and state funds."

"WAR WITHOUT TROOPS" TO BE WAGED IN AUGUST

SAN FRANCISCO — A war without troops, but simulating in every command and staff detail an actual defense of the West Coast, will be "fought" by the Fourth Army—the "Army of the West"—at the Presidio of San Francisco next month.

Four hundred officers of the Regular Army, National Guard and Officers Reserve Corps, assigned for war-time duty with the Fourth Army, will theoretically launch a drive against invading hostile forces on August 5th. The exercises will end on August 19th.

Officers in San Francisco for the extensive Command Post Exercise, or "CPX," a part of the national defense training program which finds each of the Army's four major units alternately holding Command Post Exercises and field maneuvers bi-annually, will come from the sixteen states included in the Fourth Army setup. These states are Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, Arkansas, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas of the Seventh Corps Area; and Washington, Oregon, California, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Utah and Nevada of the Ninth Corps Area.

A Command Post Exercise puts the command post organizations of the Army units into actual operation, but troop movements are on "paper." More than one hundred and sixty umpires check every movement of the participating officers. Army officers consider that the highly intricate and realistic "CPX" affords one of the most effective and inexpensive means of training commanders and staff officers.

Directing the Fourth Army Command Post Exercise at San Francisco's historic Presidio in August will be the U. S. Army's second ranking officer—a native Californian whose distinguished service record includes three wars and the command of three of the nation's nine corps areas. Major General Albert J. Bowley.

PREACHER, ACQUITTED, MAPS FILM COLONY "EXPOSE"

LOS ANGELES, (UP) — Shouts of "Hallelujah" and threats of an expose of motion picture "casting victims" echoed over the "kingdom" church of Rev. Joe Jeffers today following the acquittal of Jeffers and his wife, Zella Joy, on felony morals charges.

Jeffers, in a sermon at his church last night, told his followers he was opening a campaign to expose the "true facts behind the countless thousands of casting victims" in the film colony, promising "startling revelations that cannot be laughed off."

From Maine To California, On Vacation Tour

LOS ANGELES, (UP) — Gov. and Mrs. Lewis Orin Barrows of Maine arrived here today by American Airlines and were met at Grand Central Airport by Gov. Culbert L. Olson of California. The Barrows plan to leave later today for San Francisco. They are on a vacation trip.

that numerous inquiries for accommodations were received from Los Angeles, and one resort operator said he actually knew of a party that had come from Bakersfield.

Another reports that at nine o'clock Saturday morning, between the foot of Meyers Grade and the Alpine campground, he counted 135 cars and was assured by game wardens that earlier in the morning the number had been almost double that.

Another angler reported he started fly fishing up the stream and within the space of 100 yards passed twenty bait fishermen.

Another said he heard of one fisherman who was "smart enough" to fish the Upper Truckee above the Luther Pass Bridge (the area which has been open all season) and had the creek practically to himself and soon got a limit.

Saturday morning, your reporter passed the Alpine campground (en route to Hope Valley where we didn't do so well ourselves, thank you) and the spot had all the appearance of a thriving gold camp.

She was "chuck a block" with men, women and children, first on the ground in the new El Dorado.

MRS. ALBERT MARTIN IS PAINFULLY BURNED IN RECENT FIRE

Mrs. Albert Martin was painfully burned in a fire at Riverton Resort. It was learned Monday morning. The fire, it is said, took place either Friday or Saturday morning.

Mrs. Martin was rescued by her husband and her son and was given first aid treatment by her daughter, who is a nurse, after flames had badly burned one room of the family quarters, which adjoin the resort building.

It was learned that except for the timely discovery of the fire by the daughter, the fire might have gained such headway as to destroy the building and that the safe escape of Mrs. Martin and of her small grandchild, asleep in an upper room, might have presented a problem.

AROUND OUR TOWN

Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Reckers and Miss Florence Reckers are at their summer home near Phillips with Mrs. Stanley Reckers and children, of Sacramento. Lawyer Reckers was at the cabin for the weekend.

Mrs. L. A. Dunn was in town on Monday from Lake Valley and reports that Larry is abed with the mumps and a substitute is carrying the contract mail route between Placerville and Camp Richardson. Mr. Dunn hopes to be on duty again in about ten days.

John Winkelman was angling for big ones at Spider Lake Sunday. The Don Goodriches were at their summer cabin at Tahoe for the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Reeg and Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Lewis devoted Sunday to a "circle tour" from their summer home at Pierce's Camp through Lake Valley to Gardnerville and over the Sonoma summit, arriving in Placerville late Sunday evening. "Bud" reports the distance as 226 miles from the Echo Summit through Sonoma to Placerville.

Frank Petach, of Sacramento, spent a few days here last week with his brother, Merco, and wife.

NEW SPEEDLINE CORONA

THE MOUNTAIN DEMOCRAT

Stewart Says—

Senator Wheeler Is Viewed as Possible Presidential Timber

Central Press Columnist
SENATOR BURTON K. WHEELER of Montana is not yet what I'd call an outstanding 1940 Democratic presidential probability. He's getting to be a reasonable possibility, however.

Senator Wheeler

Senator Wheeler is viewed as a possibility, however. Senator Edwin C. Johnson of Colorado gave him an excellent boost the other day and news commentators, with whom the Montana solon is very popular, have been supplementing it with a deal of classy publicistic activities? You bet he did. He was radical enough to run vice presidentially on the Progressive ticket with the elder Senator Robert M. La Follette. When the Soviet regime was young he took a trip to Russia for a look-see. On his return I got an interview from him, and he asked to see a copy of the yarn before publication. "I wouldn't make such a request," he explained, "only you know what a red I'm supposed to be. If I'm quoted as having seen a decent thing in that country, I'm liable to be cited for high treason."

Does all this imply that he considered himself, and was so considered, muddling rampages? The correct answer appears to me to be in the affirmative.

But of late? That's different. The Montana solon was a conspicuous plunger for Franklin D. Roosevelt's presidential nomination in 1932. He also campaigned vigorously for "F. D.'s" election.

All was well for awhile. Then President Roosevelt undertook to reorganize the federal supreme court—to "pack" it, as some said. Burton K. not only fought that proposal, he led the fight against it. Gosh! how sore that made the New Dealers! They'd expected opposition from the recognized conservatives. But from a chap like the Montana statesman? "What's the matter," they demanded, "with Wheeler?" From that minute they began to denounce him as worse than a reactionary—as a deserter.

Next thing somebody asked him if he'd accept a vice presidential nomination in 1940 on a ticket with Roosevelt, as a third term. He answered that he wouldn't—because he didn't believe in presidential third terms. This made the New Dealers madder than ever. They're not sure that "F. D." is a third term seeker, but they more than resent having anyone try, in advance, to foreclose against such a program.

Within the last couple of weeks Burton K. also has voted against the administration's money bill, not to mention some of its other pet measures.

Can He Be a Compromise? He's been limelighted, anyway. Not altogether unfavorably, either.

Of course he's violently antagonized the do-or-die New Dealers, but there are quite a lot of good liberals who don't go quite as far as the New Deal extremists do and who emphatically are anti-third-termers. They still reckon B. K. into their lineup.

On the opposite hand the conservatives are not as much afraid of him as they were. They doubtless would prefer a candidate with a more rightward past than his, but they do think that maybe he's a convert, and they hold that a convert, who perhaps can be elected, would be better than a dyed-in-the-wool old-timer, who wouldn't stand a chance of election.

Nor is he too old, like John N. Garner or Cordell Hull.

Neither, any more, is he unduly one-sided, like Harry L. Hopkins, Harold L. Ickes or Henry Wallace.

His geography isn't first-class, but that might be balanced by an eastern tail to his ticket.

He should catch some Republican votes, too—western Republicans especially.

for warfare;

Building and operating new merchant marine; detecting alien spies and propagandists;

Training community leaders for national defense;

Reorganizing schools to fit modern needs of security.

What about women in the coming scheme of things? Is her place to be in the home? It is for some and it isn't for others, declares Mr. Pitkin. It all depends on the woman. "One woman may raise ten children. Her sister may raise mice. Her cousin may raise doubts about the action of thyroxin..." From a study of the personality requirements of women and in the professions, Mr. Pitkin lists the seven most important traits named in rank:

1. Ability to handle and deal fairly with people.
2. Responsibility.
3. Courtesy.
4. Care in details.
5. Pleasing appearance.
6. Ability to follow directions.
7. Knowledge in the special field.

We are not arguing the point, but this may account for the fact that so many women who are experts in their field, don't get along one-half as well as those who don't know quite so much but do know how to get along with people.

Smaller cities, villages and the open country, Mr. Pitkin believes, offer better opportunities than big cities. He claims, moreover, that a man should be a Jack of several trades in this day and age. If one job fails, you should be able to tackle another with passable skill. Today many important jobs are "merger jobs" as newspaper reporter plus skilled photographer, business manager plus a lawyer's training, salesman plus a thorough knowledge of your wares on their technical sides as gardening, furniture making, farm implement making, etc.

There is no magic formula to the art of making good. You must make every hour count and learn how to make your mind and your muscle work. Those on their way to success, may be distinguished by their capacity to live better on less money than their weaker brethren.

About making friends, Mr. Pitkin puts it pat in one sentence: he who lies down with dogs gets up with fleas. You take on the hue of your associates. Make influential friends by all means but they won't get you very far if you don't work. Pitkin is thumbs down on any soft going. If you want to succeed put yourself on a ten or twelve hour day and keep it up for years. Just like that!

You can see that the strenuous Mr. Pitkin has all the bounce of the late Teddy Roosevelt. Some of his advice you will have to take with a grain of salt. But whether or not we belong to his chosen Two Million, we all need a little mental discipline now and then. In the old days we used to get it by praying and fasting. Some continue to get it that way and others turn to the new psychology. At any rate, Mr. Pitkin in his new book may give you a few suggestions, but it will furnish you with plenty of material for argument.

$2,500 DAMAGES CLAIMED FOR FALSE ARREST ON THEFT CHARGE

A suit for $2500 damages was on file Monday in Superior Court in behalf of Floyd Cantrell against P. B. Labrie, C. F. Curtis and Charles Nichols, charging the plaintiff was compelled by force to go to the county jail wherein he was confined for a period of several hours to his humiliation and disgrace on or about July 16, 1938.

The complaint was prepared by Attorney T. S. Marlor.

Official records show that Cantrell was booked on the date noted on a petty theft charge, subsequently released on bail, and that the charge was dismissed on motion of the deputy district attorney on September 13.

The defendants in the civil action are or were at the time of the arrest Cantrell complains of, engaged in business at the Green Line

NEWS PERSONALS

James Kelly was among the Kelsey folk in the county seat Monday.

Tony Weller of Garden Valley, was a Monday morning business caller.

Deputy District Attorney and Mrs. Robert E. Roberts spent the weekend at Phillips.

Grocery store, in Placerville.

They complained that a check had been presented on behalf of Cantrell, drawn on the amount of four dollars, which was mis-read by the clerk who returned change for a forty-dollar check.

Complaint was issued against Cantrell and, officials state, it subsequently developed that Cantrell had not personally presented the check. The issue was subsequently dismissed for the legal reason that the statutory time for prosecuting had expired.

Inquiry of the store Monday morning revealed that no return ever was made to the store for the amount claimed to have been over-paid.

Attorney Thomas Maul spent the latter part of last week at San Francisco.

S. W. Collins was a Monday morning caller from Garden Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Barker were visitors at the Capital City on Monday.

Judge George H. Thompson returned over the weekend from San Francisco where he had spent the latter part of the week attending meetings of the American Bar Association, in convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ward, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Martin and Mrs. Elizabeth Killough spent Sunday at Lake Tahoe. Mrs. Killough had not visited the lake for a number of years and was much interested to note the development which has taken place.

Peter Poll, who on June 5 was fined $10 for disturbing the peace, was taken into custody Monday morning on a bench warrant in the city court and ordered to jail for five days. He had failed to pay the fine.

Mrs. Harry Reaside and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bacchi were representing Lotus in the county seat Monday morning.
